a. At the beginning of July 1947 there were two armored units in Halle. Most of these troops, equipped chiefly with T-34 tanks as well as with horse-drawn and motorized artillery, had departed by the end of July. It is believed that they are now in the Letzlinger Heide area, northwest of Magdeburg.

Between 1 and 29 July there was a noticeable increase in MVD personnel in Halle. There are now at least 1,000 MVD men, wearing green caps, in the town. Many of them arrived in groups on the Berlin-Erfurt train. The MVD commander is Colonel (fnu) Kusnetsov; his deputy in Merseburg is Colonel (fnu) Mihailov.

The 47th Guards Rifle Division was shifted to the Magdeburg area during July. These troops have abandoned the wearing of the Guards jacket insignia (gold rimmed red flag on a white background).

A trainload of fifteen old model T-34 tanks with flame throwing equipment was seen in Erfurt on 11 July. Originally scheduled to proceed to Eisenach, it was redirected during the night of 12-13 July to Langensalza (J08) via Gotha.

Between 10 and 19 July, eighteen trainloads of tanks were unloaded at Ohrdruf and Krawinkel (J79). An armored corps followed these tanks to Ohrdruf in late July but up to 29 July no maneuvers had taken place. Eight batteries (four guns each) of heavy AA left Ohrdruf on 18 July and are now in position in the woods near the zone border in the Leinefelde-Heiligenstadt area (J71-61).

Comment: [redacted] two armored divisions
druf during this period.
